Taste of Tuscany

THIS CALIFORNIA KITCHEN designed by Susan Lund, AKBD, of Spacial Design was technically a remodel, but a whole new addition was created for the living, dining, and kitchen areas. The biggest challenge: incorporating all the appliances in the redesigned space, while still retaining ample storage areas. The client also wanted all the appliances to be integrated into the cabinetry.

Several notable features made this design a hit with the homeowners. To satisfy their request for plenty of stowaway spots, the designer installed 5-foot wall cabinets. Adding a touch of sparkle, the upper-stacked cabinets feature divided light glass doors.

To ensure the design exuded the built-in feel the client requested, seven 6-foot-high armoire-like cabinetry pieces contain the pantry and refrigerator. Unique accessory cabinets include vertical tray dividers above double ovens, pull-out spice/oil cabinets on either side of the rangetop, and a cabinet for hanging damp towels near the sink and dishwasher. Located next to the icemaker, a deep drawer for bottles and a wine refrigerator create a handy bar area.

A different finish on the perimeter cabinetry—maple wood with camel paint and mocha chalk glaze—adds depth to the design. Upon completion, this new addition blended beautifully with the rest of the home. «
